Example

The following example is intended to help you compare the costs of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be as follows:

1 Year	3 Years
$103	$409

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the example, affect the Fund's performance.

Principal Investment Strategies: The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing under normal circumstances at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) in equity securities of small-mid capitalization companies. The Fund primarily chooses investments that the Adviser believes are likely to have above-average growth in revenue and/or earnings and potential for above-average capital appreciation. Small-mid capitalization companies are those with market capitalizations at the time of investment between $1 billion and $7 billion. The Fund is not required to sell equity securities whose market values appreciate or depreciate outside this market capitalization range.

The Fund seeks to invest in the equity securities of high quality companies that exhibit certain qualities, including high profitability, strong balance sheets, competitive advantages, high and/or improving financial returns, free cash flow and reinvestment opportunities, and prominent market share positions. These equity securities will include common stocks, preferred stocks, securities convertible into common stock, rights and warrants.

Principal Risks: The greatest risk of investing in the Fund is that you could lose money. Investments in the Fund also are subject to the following principal risks:

- General Market Risk – Factors that affect the stock market in general, such as economic production, interest rate levels, or geopolitical events, may negatively affect the stock market and cause a decline in the value of your investment in the Fund.
- Inflation Risk – Higher actual or anticipated inflation may have an adverse effect on corporate profits or consumer spending and result in lower values for securities held by the Fund.
- Recent Market Events – U.S. and international markets may continue to experience volatility, which could cause securities markets to experience lower valuations, reduced liquidity, price volatility, credit downgrades, increased likelihood of default and valuation difficulties.
- Stock Market Risk – The Fund invests in equity securities and therefore is subject to stock market risks and significant fluctuations in value. The Fund's investments in equity securities include common stocks, preferred stocks, securities convertible into common stock, rights and warrants. Investing in such securities may expose the Fund to additional risk. Common stock generally is subordinate to preferred stock upon the liquidation or bankruptcy of the issuing company. Preferred stocks and convertible securities are sensitive to movements in interest rates. In addition, convertible securities are subject to the risk that the credit standing of the issuer may have an effect on the convertible securities' investment value. Investments in rights and warrants may be more speculative than certain other types of investments because rights and warrants do not carry with them dividend or voting rights with respect to the underlying securities, or any rights in the assets of the issuer. In addition, the value of a right or a warrant does not necessarily change with the value of the underlying securities, and a right or a warrant ceases to have value if it is not exercised prior to its expiration date.
- Stock Selection Risk – Equity securities held by the Fund may not perform as anticipated due to a number of factors impacting the company that issued the securities, such as poor management, weak demand for the company's products, or the company's failure to meet earnings expectations.
- Small and Mid Cap Risk – The Fund may invest in small and mid capitalization companies that may not have the size, resources and other assets of large capitalization companies. As a result, the securities of small and mid capitalization companies held by the Fund may be subject to greater market risks and fluctuations in value than large capitalization companies or may not correspond to changes in the stock market in general.
